The Japanese American Experience in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas and Utah

PILOT PROGRAM
ARKANSAS: More than 16,000 Japanese Americans were held in Jerome and Rohwer camps. Sixty years later, the National Museum piloted a successful program in Arkansas training more than 800 educators, reaching over 70,000 students, and distributing curriculum packages on the Japanese American experience to every elementary, middle, and high school in the state.